STATE HOMEOPATHISTS.

Fourth Annual Session of the Disciples of Hahnemann in Texas.

The fourth annual session of the Texas Homeopathic Medical Association convened in the parlors of the Ellis house yesterday at noon with delegates present from many points in the state. The attendance was not as large as had been expected because of the long continued drought in many portions of the state, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in earnestness of work and in the heartiest of good fellowship among those present.

The president, W. F. Thatcher, M. D., of Dallas, called the association to order and felicitated the members upon the favorable auspices under which the meeting was held. Rev. J. H. Christ offered prayer and the association began its work by the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, held at San Antonio, a year ago.

Several applications for membership were received from physicians from various portions of the state, and were referred to a board of censors, consisting of Dr. Jones of San Antonio, Dr. Hall of Waco and Dr. Hines of Corsicana. All of the applicants were reported upon favorably and were duly elected to membership.

Under the head of new business a discussion of the relationship of homeopathy to the State Insane Asylum of Texas, and to the proposed medical department of the State University, and of the right of the new school of practice to representation in these institutions was extensively participated in by Doctors Thatcher, Jones, Hines, McKenzie, Gundlach, Hall and Fisher, and a committee of five was appointed to consider the questions raised and report proper resolutions and recommendations upon the same at a future session of the convention. The legislative committee reported all quiet on the Medical Potomac, and nothing is being done in the legislative department. The committee are alive to the interests of the homeopathic school in the matter of legislation, and will strongly oppose the enactment of unfair or partisan legislation.

After the transaction of routine business of minor importance, the association adjourned for dinner.

AFTERNOON SESSION—4 P. M.
Dr. J. G. Gundlach of Terrell read an exhaustive paper on "The Potentization and Dynamization of Drug Forces," a subject of great interest to homeopathy. The doctor set forth clearly his views and those of prominent homeopathic teachers of this country and Europe upon the question of infinitesimalism, and treated at some length the subject of the small doses of the homeopathic and the rationale of their action.

Dr. Gundlach's paper called forth the views and experience of several of the visiting physicians, the session resolving itself into a practical "experience meeting."

Following this paper Dr. J. R. McKenzie of Weatherford followed with his experience with "Homeopathy in Hospital Gangrene." His paper related his experience with the allopathic practice and subsequently with the remedies of the homeopathic system during the late war, resulting in his thorough conversion to the practice of the new system and the abandonment of the old.

Dr. McKenzie's paper elicited extensive discussion, during which various lines of treatment were presented and considerable testimony adduced favorable to homeopathic remedies and dry treatment in surgical practice.

Dr. I. W. Cohen of Waco read a paper on "Placenta Praevia." The paper was chiefly a history of cases of this dangerous condition and elicited lengthy discussion from a number of members.

EVENING SESSION.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather yesterday and the fact that Dr. Pollock, who had charge of the arrangement of the meetings, was detained through the day and evening with a patient dangerously ill, the presidential address was delivered to an appreciative audience at the parlors of the Ellis house by Dr. Thatcher, the retiring president, upon the "Influences of Homeopathy upon Medical Science and Practice."

The address will appear in full in tomorrow morning's GAZETTE.

The convention will continue in session to-day.

JAILED AS PRISONERS.

A Sensational Case that Has Stirred Up a Country Community Mightily.

A Mother-in-Law Charged with Mixing Meal and Rough on Rats—A Whole Family Made Sick.

For some weeks past the quiet country settlement of Kennedale, twelve miles south of the city, has been agitated over a very disagreeable affair involving two families of that community.

During the last Christmas holidays Mr. G. W. Pierce, a sturdy young farmer living near Kennedale, married the young daughter of Mrs. Catherine Penny, in the same neighborhood. It seems that the ties of affection that made the hearts of the young people beat in unison, were sadly attenuated in the case of the bride's mother and her son-in-law. In fact, she did not care a penny for him, and the sickening hatred seemed steadily to increase. Pierce appears to have reciprocated in kind, and at last forbade his wife's mother from coming to his home.

THOUGHT IT WAS THE WATER.
Along about this time the entire Pierce household including some brothers and hired hands of the husband, began to get in an ailing condition. They could not attribute their ill feelings to any other cause save the well water, and finally quit using it and began hauling water from a neighbor's. Still their condition was not bettered, though no suspicion of foul play had up to that time entered the minds of any of the family. On the night of the 9th of last April, however, the most serious thing of all happened. That evening there was an unusually large crowd at the home of the Pierces. Besides old lady Pierce, mother of the principal victim, and several of his brothers, there were several employees. Supper was prepared by Mrs. Pierce, Sr., and was partaken of by the entire party. But in a very short while thereafter every one present and began to vomit. Another brother who came afterwards found them in this condition, and was told that they had been poisoned. He would not believe it and taking up a piece of bread swallowed a few mouthfuls, giving the rest to a dog. In a minute he and the canine were sick as the rest. Then they came to the logical conclusion that something was wrong with the bread.

TURNED DEADLY SICK

For a good while the matter was a mystery. Some of those who were made sick got over it easily, and some felt ill for many days. The disliked son-in-law fared worst. From being a stalwart looking farmer, he fell off in flesh, and to-day seems in wretched physical plight. He has been under medical treatment ever since that night. Pierce's wife, the daughter of Mrs. Penny, is a very young woman, hardly sixteen years of age. The matter all came out through her. Not long since she revealed to a friend that the persons who poisoned the supper on the evening of April 9 were her

MOTHER AND BROTHER TOM,
the latter a young man of about eighteen or twenty. She said that during the absence of her husband one afternoon that M. S. Penny and her son came to see her and while there put something in the bag of meal. She claimed that she was afraid to tell her husband when he came home, for fear he would go and kill her mother and brother. The friend lost no time in revealing the wife's story to Pierce, and the upshot of it was that the latter went before the County Attorney a day or so ago, and papers were obtained for the arrest of the two mentioned. Yesterday morning they were brought into town by Deputy Sheriff Dick Runyon and put in the Fort Worth jail. Mrs. Penny is about fifty years of age, and has the reputation of possessing the reverse of

A GENTLE DISPOSITION.
She did not appear the least bit scared, but her son Tom, a green-looking young rustic, was perceptibly nervous in their brief interview with the County Attorney. It came out that the latter was the purchaser of a package of rough on rats, at a Kennedale drug store, after previously trying to purchase strychnine at another place, which was refused him. His mother on being asked concerning this, made the remark that people had the right to buy whatever they chose.

A QUEER CIRCUMSTANCE of the case is connected with the story of Mrs. Pierce. She was among those who were made violently sick on the occasion spoken of. If she knew that her mother and brother had tampered with the meal, why did she not warn the others? Why did she undergo the risk herself? It is scarcely credible that her fear of what her husband might do would lead her to keep silence under such circumstances.

The prisoners will have a preliminary trial Thursday.

A BOND REFUSED.

Four Aldermen Want to Reconsider the Election of Water Inspector Thomas.

At the last regular meeting of the City Council prior to yesterday's session, an election for water inspector was had, which resulted in favor of Mr. W. P. Thomas. For four ballots the vote was evenly divided between him and Mr. William Hale, but on the fifth, the tellers, Aldermen Darter, Tatum and Daggett, announced that Thomas had received five votes, leaving only three to Hale, and the former was declared duly elected.

It seems that some dissatisfaction has arisen since, and it is reported that four of the aldermen, to-wit: Hill, Cooper, Daggett and Rely, recently went to Mayor Broiles and asked him to have the matter reopened, each of the four affirming that his vote was not cast for Thomas. If this is the case, then the fifth ballot (which elected Thomas) would have still resulted in a tie, and there would have been no election.

When Thomas presented his bond to the Mayor Monday, that official refused to sign it, although there was no fault to be found with the sureties. The Mayor was doubtless expecting the matter to come up at the meeting yesterday, but somehow it did not, and thus it stands. The question would at once present itself: If neither of those four aldermen voted for Thomas, and as five out of the eight votes of that body were counted for him, did the tellers make a mistake? If they did, why has the matter been kept so quiet? Why did not the four gentlemen who deny having voted for Thomas make known that fact in open Council yesterday?

Concerning the Origin of Comets.

Our views would appear inconsistent with those of men who have made the subject a special study. However, we have a theory of comets and meteors to which we design giving publicity in the near future for the especial delectation of THE GAZETTE'S readers; but in this issue we desire to make known a few facts which we think will prove, if not as entertaining, at least more conducive to the material interest of the public than an exposition of a theory concerning the genesis and constitution of the phenomena of the heavens.

A Sumptuous FEAST OF VERITABLE BARGAINS

Will be served to our patrons this week. Being overjoyed on account of the recent heavy rainfalls, and desiring to show our appreciation of the goodness of Providence, we make this week a sacrifice of the following lines of goods:

Important Department Meeting.

In accordance with request of members, I hereby call a meeting of the Fort Worth Fire Department on the 5th day of May, at p. m., for the purpose of transacting business of importance.

J. L. COOPER,
President.

COUNCIL MEETING.

A Proposition to Investigate the Water-works Purchase Fails to Carry.

Aside from the usual grist of reports and petitions, yesterday's session of the City Council was enlivened by but few passages of interest. The list of new officers of the fire department was confirmed. A strong petition signed by the board of underwriters, citizens and firemen, recommending that the chief of the fire department get a salary of $75 per month, was referred to the fire committee. An ordinance relating to the term of office of water works officials was read the second time. It brought out substantially the same debate as the previous meeting. Alderman Daggett was in favor of proceeding with the election of a secretary of the water works. Darter reminded him that the present incumbent was elected for two years and his time didn't expire till June. Daggett wanted to know if the council could elect a man for two years, why it couldn't for five. Cooper instanced a case of a chief of the fire department who was relieved in the midst of the term for which he was elected. Darter answered that the office was first abolished, then re-established by the Council, and in that way a new man was put in. The City Attorney was called on and said the Council could abolish any office it created, but leaned to the opinion it had the right to elect a man for a term of two years. The ordinance was finally referred to a committee.

WANTED TO INVESTIGATE.
A resolution empowering the Mayor to appoint a committee of four to investigate the purchase of the water works by the city was a rather surprising feature. Cooper favored it. He said it wouldn't cost the city anything, and if there was anything wrong it was right for the people to know. Hill said there was a great clamor by the people for this investigation. He averred that the stocks had been greatly watered, though he had nothing against the men who bought the works. Daggett also wanted to investigate, and thought the people would not be satisfied if it wasn't done.

Darter said it would do no good; the matter had been settled for years, and it would be detrimental to the city.

Tatum agreed with him. So did Haymaker.

Ward asked the City Attorney if the council committee appointed to investigate could compel the attendance of witnesses like a legislature. If they could and had to bring back Mose Harris from Austin and Dick Flanagan from Dallas, the city would be out a good deal of money. The City Attorney made it plain that the city would have to bear the burden of expense, and the resolution was voted down, ayes: Hill, Cooper, Daggett; nays: Rely, Darter, Haymaker, Tatum, Ward.

The following resolution was introduced by Hill:

"Be it resolved, that all saloons be allowed to stay closed from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m."

It shared the same fate as its predecessor.

His Honeymoon.

Ed Hart, a colored cook, late of Baltimore, got married Sunday, and is spending his honeymoon in jail. The cause of Ed's loss of liberty was a visit from a former mistress, one Lizzie Hopkins, to County Attorney Carlock. She revealed a story to the attorney that convinced him that Ed was too much of a gay Lothario to go unchecked, so he was brought before the court on a charge of adultery, to which plea of guilty was entered, and the defendant was soon occupying quarters in the building where he will have ample time to reflect that this is a different age from that of King Solomon.

Daily Springs.

PARIS, TEX., April 12.—I have been acquainted with the great medicinal virtues of the waters at Dalby Springs, Bowie county, Tex., for upwards of twenty-five years, and am fully satisfied that they have never been appreciated by our people as they should be. They possess superior tonic properties (iron being one of the leading ingredients), and as a laxative, diaphoretic, diuretic and soporific they have no equal. If your constitution is broken down from disease or overworked go to Dalby. If you or your child have contagious (kin) disease, go to Dalby. If you have any kidney, bladder, in fact any urinary disease whatever, go to Dalby. I have known the worst form of chronic inflammation of the bladder cured or greatly benefited by the use of these waters after all other remedies had failed. If your nervous system is irritable from disease or overtaxing of body or brain so you cannot sleep well at night, go to Dalby. If your stomach is deranged from indigestion or any cause, be certain to go to Dalby. In fact, from my knowledge of the disease of this country, after having practiced the profession for a number of years, I know of but few diseases, if any, that will not be greatly benefited by a stay from ten to twenty days at Dalby Springs. Were the best chemists of the United States to analyze the waters of these springs and then compound all of said ingredients into one mass for a patient, it would not have one-half the effect that these waters will when taken fresh and sparkling from the spring. Nature's God is the best chemist and prescriber we have.
